

THE SITTARD KENNEDY MARCH – 8 April 2023.

1. The Sittard Kennedy March came into existence in 1963 when the American president John F. Kennedy said "I think most American people are so weak, they can't even walk fifty miles within 20 hours". In many places people tried to prove him wrong. In Sittard, in the South of the Netherlands, four high school students and some of their friends started the first Sittard Kennedy March on April 20th 1963. After 19 hours, 10 participants reached the finish line tired but satisfied. The event developed into a tradition. In 2019 the number of walkers was 2234.
